

Business of the Week: Kent Lashley, CPA

Written by Betsy Blevins

Thursday, 17 February 2011 16:48 -

Feb. 10, 2011 - Kent Lashley, CPA, a certified public accountant since 1993, has served Leonard and the surrounding communities since 2003. Kent has many years of experience working in various industries for companies such as Nationwide Insurance and Bank of America, and this enables him to provide knowledgeable service and advice to his clients.

Kent and his staff provide individualized service for each client based on their specific needs. They serve both individual and business clients with income tax preparation, accounting and bookkeeping, payroll, tax planning, as well as financial and business consulting. Kent and his staff value every client and make extra effort to find available tax deductions while preparing honest and accurate tax returns.